The purpose of this web site is to offer information on academic ethics and to outline criteria for Internet use for college students. Please do not use this web site in a way that could damage your college education or your college record. The primary purpose of this web site is to provide information about academic ethics and to list Internet usage criteria for college students.

Please do not use this web site in a way that could damage your college education or your college record. It is assumed that college students have an understanding of the difference between their personal behavior and their college behavior, and that they are able to act in a socially responsible manner. However, college students often do not understand that certain activities they perform on the Internet could damage their reputation or adversely affect their future college record. Therefore, we want to help college students understand the difference between their personal behavior and their college behavior and to provide them with information to help them choose appropriate Internet activities. Screen Shot: I Love My Robotic Baby Taking a break from the eight-hour-a-day diaper duty to get my iPhone out and take a screen shot. I've got a second shot of the same photo at a slight angle. I can't believe my 8-week old Lazy Eye is already out of diapers. I'm a little sad, actually. All that baby sweat is making me a little bit crazy, so it's good to have a way to capture all that babygoeeyness. Once he stops sleeping in my bra, we'll be bathing our little one every day. I'll still have the first week of baby belly, but that will go away quickly. I love the closeness of those first days, but I don't want to see those babies grow into 1d6a3396d6
